International Computer Users Fellowship of Rotarians

<http://www.icufr.org>

What do we do in our spare time?

Are you a computer user?

Would you like to.....

- discover almost everything you want to know about Rotary
- make new friends from other Rotary Clubs around the world
- share projects and ideas
- get help and advice with your computer problems
- receive a monthly newsletter with news and tech tips
- have access to a website with a collection of computer tips and Rotary information?

Then ICUFR is For YOU?

As one of the more than 100 Recreational and Vocational Fellowships of Rotary International, the mission of the ICUFR is to encourage the use of electronic communication to serve, share, and enjoy the fellowship and projects of Rotary.

Electronic Communication is The main emphasis of the Fellowship, to bring together Rotarians the world over to strengthen the work they Undertake, and to foster greater understanding between the various cultures.

Taranto lists: hosted by Irwin Taranto, provide one means for Rotarians worldwide to “meet” online for informative discussions and general social chat, and are available to anyone with internet e-mail.

Face to Face Communication through our Annual Conferences has given members the opportunity to meet the Rotarians with whom they have been communicating electronically

The conferences provide a mix of workshops presentations and social events. Recent conferences have been held in Toronto, San Diego, Atlanta, London, Halifax, San Rafael, Calgary, Chicago and Ithaca. Sometimes a Spring Meet is also arranged in the UK. Details of the next Conference will be found on the website. (To See them, open the website, click on “Navigate Here”, then Conferences)

State-of-the-art FORUM communications centre managed by our members for all Rotarians.

- Searchable wealth of Rotary information and fellowship
- High 'Content to Noise' ratio, but still friendly and easy to use
- Useful categories and sections
- Can have email Notifications when topics of interest are updated
- Messages can be posted in many languages including Arabic and Japanese.

Volunteers help with running the ICUFR The Officers and Board or Directors are all volunteers, as are the members who provide advice, act as translators, help maintain the website and manage membership issues. ICUFR Booths at RI Conventions, and sometimes at district conferences, are manned by a team of volunteer members who will be found welcoming Rotarians in the House of Friendship.
